DWARF DAHLIA.

This class comprises some of the most valuable varieties in cultivation. They grow only one and a half to two feet high, forming a very compact bush, and blooming more freely than the taller varieties, requiring no stakes to keep them in shape. To those having only small gardens we would recommend this class. Young plants, in pots only, twelve distinct varieties..... 25 2 50

GERANIUMS.

No class of plants is used more extensively for our garden decorations than the various shades and varieties of the Geranium, and deservedly so, as none give more universal satisfaction. Our stock is extensive, and includes all the shades of color it is capable of producing. Those varieties which have proved pre-eminently superior for bedding purposes we grow by the thousand. The descriptions given were taken from our own beds, and may be relied on; those varieties not possessing good bedding qualities are generally of superior merit for pot culture.....

Double Flowering Zonale Geraniums.

Comparatively a late introduction; the particular merits of this class consist in their retaining their immense fine trusses for a long time; they are as easy of cultivation as the single varieties, on rich soil somewhat prone to make an immense growth, without flowering equally free; while on moderately rich or even poor soil they will make a magnificent display; we would draw attention to our new varieties, including the long looked for Double White.

CERANIUMS, IVY-LEAVED.

Each. Per doz.

Although the foliage of this beautiful section is of sufficient interest to warrant its cultivation, yet the value is greatly enhanced by the beauty and profusion of its flowers during the Spring and Summer months, running through the various shades, from white, pink and crimson. The list below is selected as giving the widest range of color. They are well adapted for rock-work or vases, and for drooping over baskets, or trained on trellises, are unsurpassed, in 4 in. pots, except where noted, (larger specimens at higher rates.).....

ROSES.

Our collection of these, aptly called the Queen of flowers, is as complete as can be found in the country; the greatest care is taken to preserve the varieties true to name, and to admit none but those of particular merit; they are all grown in pots, thus insuring them to live; all are on their own roots except the very few marked “†” which have been found too slow and puny, except when budded on a vigorous stock and which contain some of the most exquisite or brilliant of the genus.

Parties ordering by mail will find it to their advantage to allow us some latitude in the selection; for, growing so many varieties as we do, it is impossible for us to keep a large stock of all the varieties we enumerate; if we are given the color and the class of Roses from which to select, purchasers may fully rely on getting the very best plants for their purpose.

HYBRID PERPETUAL ROSES.

The roses belonging to this class are entirely hardy; many will bloom more or less throughout the season; all bring a second crop of flowers in Fall, if properly taken care of during the growing season.

STANDARD OR TREE ROSES (Imported).

We have secured a superior stock of these roses, which present such an unique appearance under good cultivation; they are grown in pots and are in vigorous condition, so no failure need be apprehended; we have both monthly and hardy Hybrid Perpetuals, but the selection of varieties must be, in a measure, left with us...2 00-4 00

MONTHLY ROSES.

Each. Per doz.

These are, in our opinion, by far the most interesting of the family ; the long continuance of their blooming, the delightful fragrance of most of them should make them well worthy of the little trouble there is in giving them protection during the Winter ; we classify them into the usual sections, which can, however, not be clearly defined, on account of the many hybrids or crosses with each other.

Of the new ones we offer small plants, in 2 in. pots, well rooted:

LILIES.

These beautiful plants are becoming yearly more popular as their merits become more widely known, and certainly no class of plants are more deserving of extended cultivation; no garden should be without a collection of these interesting and beautiful flowers; they are perfectly hardy, and of the easiest culture, and many of the varieties are possessed of the most delicious fragrance. They are admirably adapted for pot culture, or for the decoration of the greenhouse or conservatory, and will flourish in almost any soil or situation. To produce fine specimens in pots, they should be grown in a mixture of light, turfy loam and leaf-mould. After once planting, they require very little care, and should not be disturbed oftener than once in three years, as established plants bloom more freely than if taken up annually.

LILIUM AURATUM.

(The Golden-Rayed Lily of Japan.)

This magnificent Lily, which has excited so much wonder and admiration, is now so well known that any description is unnecessary; suffice it to say that it is perfectly hardy, and therefore admirably suited for out-door cultivation, as well as for the adornment of the greenhouse, conservatory, or sitting room. Strong flowering roots 50 5 00

JAPAN LILIES.

(Lilium Lancifolium Vars.)

These superb Lilies are admirably adapted for pot culture; they are also quite hardy, and when planted in groups or masses in the open borders, their chaste and beautiful flowers, which diffuse a most agreeable fragrance, form one of the principal features of the flower-garden during the months of July and August.

DOUBLE TUBEROSE.

|--|----|------|
| The Tuberose is one of the most fragrant and beautiful of Summer blooming bulbs, throwing up stems of wax-like, white flowers, from two to three feet high, and continuing in bloom for a long period. Of this universal and almost indispensable favorite we have a splendid stock to offer this season. To insure blooming, and thereby give better satisfaction, we have started a number in pots, that will flower in July and August, thereby running no risk of being injured by the frost.
